

D27

Robert Frost

D27

D31

More Comic & Curious Verse

D31

D39

Robert Graves

D39

D41

W. H. Auden

D41

D42

William Blake

D42

D44

Hilaire Belloc

D44

D48

Yet More Comic & Curious Verse

D48

D53

Thomas Hardy

D53

D54

Hölderlin

D54

D55

Swinburne

D55

D58

Robert Herrick

D58

D59

Georgian Poetry

D59

D66

Religious Verse

D66

D67

Contemporary American Poetry

D67

D71

Pushkin

D71

D72

e. e. cummings

D72

D74

Goethe

D74

D77

Japanese Verse

D77

D83

Elizabethan Verse

D83

02/06/2015

'WHAT A STUPID DAY IT
HAD BEEN: A STUPID DAY
OF A STUPID MONTH OF A STUPID YEAR!

Royal Mail
08:05.15
08:30 pm
94700260

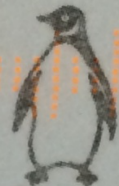

Birmingham

Mail Centre

POST CARD

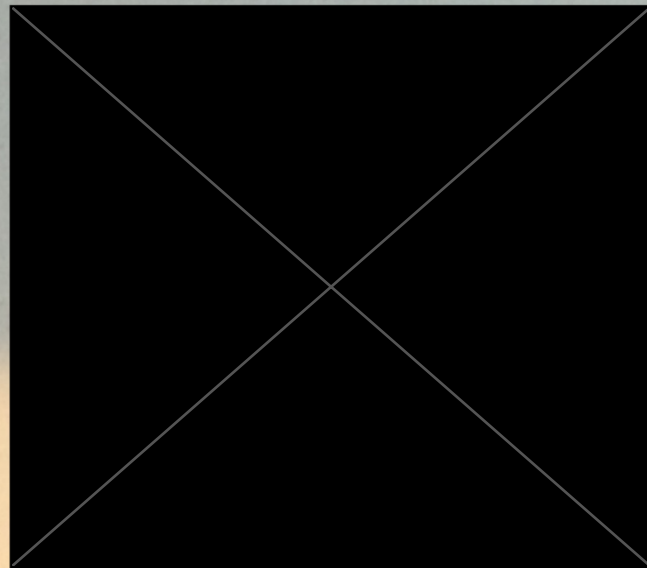

FOR CORRESPONDENCE

FOR ADDRESS ONLY

I AM FINDING IT
QUITE INTRIGUING THAT THE ONLY OTHER
JAPANESE LITERATURE I HAVE READ IS A
SHORT STORY HANDED TO ME A WEEK
BEFORE YOU THROW 'CHRONICLE' MY WAY.
NOT JUST THAT, BUT WITHIN THE FIRST
THIRTY PAGES I FIND THE SAME THEMES
BEING INVESTIGATED - THAT NURAHAM I
IS DETAILING IN DEPTH WHAT ATUYAWA
TOUCHED ON AND POINTED TOWARDS IN
'LIFE OF A STUPID MAN! INTRIGUED, NO MORE AS YET! MICHAEL

Spines of the Penguin Poetry series, 1963. Majority by Stephen Russ